Advocacy Plans

If the 2010 Pennsylvania budget cycle has taught public libraries anything it is that, we the library community, must develop a clear and consistent advocacy message about the needs and accomplishments of public libraries; and then present that information with effectiveness to our local supporters and stakeholders, as well as to our elected representatives in Harrisburg. Please join us at the Northwest Chapter's Annual Meeting & Workshop to hear from an expert on library advocacy, Janice Trapp, as she details how to develop and implement an advocacy plan for your library. Together, we can advocate for a better future for Pennsylvania's libraries.

Janice Trapp

The Northwest Chapter of PaLA is pleased to present Janice Trapp as she details how libraries can develop and implement an Advocacy Plan. Ms. Trapp is the highly regarded Director of the James V. Brown Library in Williamsport, PA. She also serves as the Administrator for the North Central Library District and for the Lycoming County Library System. A recipient of numerous awards and honors over her distinguished career, including ALA's prestigious Sullivan Award, she has also served with distinction as President of the Pennsylvania Library Association, been the chair/co-chair of numerous statewide committees, and is a frequent speaker on topics of public library leadership and advocacy.

Please Note:

A buffet lunch is available for you to purchase in the Clarion University Dining Hall. A wide selection of menu items are offered; there is something for everyone. The Dining Hall is located a short walk from the library.

Morning refreshments will be provided at the library.
